An explanation of what was the relative importance of the execution factors, or any other consideration including qualitative factors that the Company considered when assessing the quality of execution, can be found in the below table.

The following Execution Factors are considered in order of importance:

Factor	Importance Level	Remarks
Price	High	Strong emphasis on the quality and level of the price data that we receive from external sources (i.e. liquidity providers) in order to provide our Clients with competitive price quotes.
Costs	High	All reasonable steps to keep the costs of the tradable transactions as low and competitive, to the extent possible. The information on all costs and associated charges are listed on the Company's Official Website.
Speed of Execution	High	Execution speed and the opportunity for price improvement are critical to every trader and we repeatedly monitor this factor to ensure we maintain our high execution standards.
Likelihood of Execution	High	Market conditions for the relevant financial instrument might cause the Company to prioritise the likelihood of execution. Regardless, the Company reserves the right to decline a Client order as we aim to execute all Client orders, to the extent possible.
Likelihood of Settlement	Medium	We shall proceed to a settlement of all transactions upon execution of such transactions.
Size of order	Medium	A Client will be able to place Order (s) as long as he/she has enough balance in his/her trading account. A unit measuring the transaction amount and it is different for each type of CFD.
Market Impact	Medium	Some factors may rapidly affect the price of the underlying instruments/products from which the Company's quoted price is derived and may also affect other factors listed herein. We take all reasonable steps to obtain the best possible result for its Clients.

We assign equal importance to price, costs, speed, likelihood of execution and other factors when assessing the quality of our execution/liquidity venues.

Other Execution Factors include currency valuation of each instrument relative to the client's base currency, minimum size of orders for the various instruments offered, market opening and closing times for each instrument relative to Skilling's working hours. However, none of these other factors took precedence over the execution factors listed in this section.

6. DATA AND TOOL USED REGARDING QUALITY OF EXECUTION

During the year 2018, the Company performed daily quality checks on existing price feed (or market data) and drew comparisons between liquidity providers and price providers to ensure the consistency of the execution quality on a continuous and live basis. In particular, the Company checked the quality of the execution against the price feed obtained from Bloomberg L.P, X-Trade Brokers ("XTB") and other reputable investment firms.

The Company monitors the quality of execution of client orders through various data and tools. The aim is to ensure that clients are provided with the best possible results for their order. To this end, execution venues are required to publish a range of information on execution quality on a quarterly basis. The Company published RTS 27 Report covering the reporting period that is representative of the execution data on Q3 of 2018 and Q 4 of 2018.
